Treasure of School of Law

FROM THE DEAN'S DESK

Prof. (Dr.) Priya A Sondhi
Professor & Dean, School of Law

Welcome to another edition of Leglytical, our School of Law's platform for thoughtful analysis, informed dialogue, and academic reflection.

In an era where the law is constantly evolving, Leglytical aims to bridge classroom learning with contemporary legal realities, encouraging our students to think critically and act ethically.

Legal education today extends far beyond mastering statutes and precedents. It is about cultivating analytical rigor, social responsibility, and an unwavering commitment to justice. At our School of Law, we remain dedicated to nurturing these values by fostering an environment that promotes research, debate, innovation, and professional excellence.

I am pleased to see our students actively engaging in moots, legal aid initiatives, research publications, and interdisciplinary discussions. These experiences not only sharpen legal skills but also instill empathy and leadership—qualities essential to the making of responsible legal professionals. Equally commendable are the efforts of our faculty, whose scholarship and mentorship continue to inspire academic curiosity and intellectual growth. Leglytical stands as a testament to this collective spirit. It provides a space for voices to be heard, ideas to be challenged, and perspectives to be broadened. I encourage our students to use this platform to explore emerging legal trends, question established norms, and contribute meaningfully to legal discourse.

As we move forward, let us remain committed to learning with purpose, practicing with integrity, and serving society with dedication. I wish the editorial team led by Dr Sulakshana, Associate Professor every success and look forward to the insightful contributions that lie ahead.

Warm regards,
Dr Priya A Sondhi
Dean, School of Law

EVENTS AT A GLANCE

Cultural Event

The School of Law, Sushant University, observed the second day of the Constitution Day Celebration with a formal and vibrant programme held on campus.

As Part II of the ongoing celebrations, the event carried the central theme of “Anekta Mein Ekta”—Unity in Diversity—beautifully reflecting the cultural and constitutional spirit of India. Beginning at 10:00 AM, the ceremony brought together faculty members, students, and distinguished guests to honour the Indian Constitution and celebrate the harmony of India’s diverse traditions. The event was anchored with poise and clarity by Avantika Yadav and Abhishek Singh Chauhan, who served as the Masters of Ceremony. They extended a warm welcome and set the tone for the programme by emphasizing the importance of Constitution Day and how the theme “Anekta Mein Ekta” resonates with the values enshrined in the Constitution.

A significant highlight of the morning was the Reading of the Preamble, led by Prof. Dr. Priya A. Sondhi, Dean, School of Law. As the audience rose to recite the Preamble together, the hall echoed with the ideals of justice, liberty, equality, and fraternity—ideals that bind our diverse nation into a unified democratic entity. This solemn act established a meaningful foundation for the cultural segment that followed.

EVENTS AT A GLANCE

The celebration then transitioned into a rich and colourful Cultural Programme, thoughtfully curated to depict India's unity in its multitude of languages, traditions, and art forms.

The performances commenced with a spirited traditional dance representing the vibrancy of Punjab, setting an energetic tone for the morning. This was followed by a patriotic group song reflecting unity and national pride. A soulful instrumental flute presentation added an element of serenity, showcasing the depth of Indian classical music. The cultural journey continued through various regions of India—a melodious Bengali composition, a warm Gujarati folk song, and a graceful Himachali dance. These performances embodied the theme “Anekta Mein Ekta,” illustrating how different cultures come together to form one harmonious national identity. Patriotic songs, lively folk dances, and soulful musical pieces representing Sindhi, Assamese, and other traditions were warmly received by the audience, further enriching the diversity of the programme. A thoughtful poem added literary depth and emotional resonance to the event.

A vibrant Garba performance served as one of the key highlights, filling the venue with rhythmic enthusiasm and cultural colour. The cultural showcase concluded with the iconic anthem “Mile Sur Mera Tumhara”, a perfect symbol of India's unity despite its vast diversity. The event drew to a respectful close with the National Anthem, uniting everyone in a shared moment of pride. The Constitution Day event at Sushant University successfully combined constitutional awareness with cultural expression, inspiring all present to uphold the values of the Constitution and cherish the unity of the nation.
