Establishing a Yoga Club for Community Well-Being!

In compliance with the directions received from Director, Higher Education, Haryana, Sushant university has established a Yoga Club, where community members can come together to practice yoga, share experiences, and support each other in their well-being journeys, the conception of the Yoga Club emerged. This report details the successful establishment of the club, emphasizing its primary goal of promoting physical and mental well-being within the community.

Purpose: The primary purpose of the Yoga Club is to foster health and wellness through the practice of yoga. With a commitment to reducing stress, enhancing physical fitness, and building a community of like-minded individuals interested in holistic well-being, the club aims to create a space that transcends the physical aspects of yoga, embracing the mental and spiritual dimensions as well.

Preliminary discussions with DSW Amit Singh being the potential member helped us in aligning outreach to local community organizations, yoga studios, and health and wellness groups which indicated a strong interest and support for the establishment of the Yoga Club. The collaboration with these entities has been instrumental in shaping the club's vision and gaining traction within the community.

Choosing a suitable space for yoga sessions was a critical consideration. The identified locations include:

1. An indoor space A – Block (Room No. 015 Ground Floor),
2. An outdoor space E – Block, Wind Tunnel (First Floor)

The goal is to provide an inclusive and accessible space that accommodates various skill levels. The Committee appointed two faculties from within the team to lead – Dr. Astha Mehta and Ms. Bhavya Arora along with a Yoga instructors & students who have enrolled to be a part of the club.

Instructors List:

1. Dr. Bindu
2. Antim Dev Mishra
3. Ruchy Jain
4. Mahima Bhardwaj

Student coordinators:

1. Teesha Kalra
2. Sharanya Variyar
3. Shilpa Duhan
4. Krish Gupta
5. Aryan Dahiya
6. Ritu Tarar

Faculty Coordinators:

1. Astha Mehta, Associate Professor, (Member Statutory event mangement committe)
2. Bhavya Arora, (Member Statutory event mangement committe)

Each member brings a passion for the club's mission and a commitment to contributing time and effort to its success. Their diverse skills and perspectives enrich the overall leadership dynamic. Yoga Sessions - To provide quality instruction and ensure adherence to safe practices, the club has organised events wherein certified yoga instructors were brought to campus to lead the event. The event catered different skill levels, creating an environment where both beginners and experienced practitioners feel welcome.

Emphasis has been placed on promoting health and safety during yoga sessions, including the incorporation of proper warm-up and cool-down routines. Additionally, the club has ensured the availability of a first aid kit and established clear emergency procedures.

The club actively organizes workshops, seminars, and events related to yoga, mindfulness, and holistic well-being. Collaborations with local experts and health professionals enhance the diversity and depth of these offerings, providing members with a comprehensive well-being experience.

Efforts to foster a sense of community include the creation of online platforms and social media groups for ongoing communication and support among members. The encouragement of social interactions aims to strengthen the bonds within the club, creating a supportive network beyond the yoga mat.

The club is exploring various funding sources, including membership fees and sponsorships, to ensure the sustainability of its activities.

Comprehensive records are maintained, documenting the club's activities, successes, and challenges. This documentation serves as a valuable resource for future planning and potential grant applications, allowing the club to showcase its impact and journey.

The establishment of the Yoga Club has been met with enthusiasm and positive feedback from the community. As the club continues to evolve, it remains dedicated to providing a valuable space for individuals to enhance their well-being through yoga practice and community engagement. The journey of the Yoga Club is a testament to the transformative power of yoga and the enduring impact of community-driven initiatives.

Title – Eye Screening Camp

Date - 17th September, 2019

Venue - Bar Gujjar Village, Haryana

Description - In collaboration with School of Engineering and Technology (SET) along with School of Health Science (SHS), School of Law (SOL) Ansal University at Bar Gujjar Village, Haryana on 17th September, 2019.

The camp activities include Eye screening camp organised by SHS, cloth bag distribution by SOL, data procurement for village survey and household survey forms and tree plantation drive by SET.

Optometry students of SHS along with the faculty members provided a comprehensive eye evaluation to the people registered to the screening camp. A detailed eye evaluation was done and spectacles were prescribed. Those who detected to have any abnormality was referred to the eye hospital in Gurgaon. A total of 122 people were screened during the day and also given information about eye hygiene and common eye diseases. Awareness programme focussing on female health specific problems, dengue, malaria was also taken by the students.

To identify details of existing scenario and to provide basic data on deficiencies & gaps in infrastructure, amenities & Services for analysis & to identify potential for future development by an expert team, baseline Village survey forms and Household survey forms were filled and data was procured from door to door by students of SET. Tree plantation drive was also carried out by the students of SET.

Educational lecture was delivered by students of SOL on “Band karo Polythene ka Istemaal” and distributed handmade cloth bags to the villagers. Unnat Bharat Abhiyan 2.0 is in line with Prime Minister’s vision to transform India, in which students from colleges and universities need to go to nearby villages to get acquainted with the life of the village people and the problems faced by them in day to day life. Being a part of the UBA initiative is also an opportunity for them to learn about the basic challenges faced by rural people and to bring out practical solutions for their betterment.

PURANI DILLI DRAGGED TO GURGAON... Rare are the opportunities for the dwellers of the Millennium City to savor, in the true sense, the age-old delicacies of Chandni Chowk, or to experience in its true setting, a first-hand taste of what happens to be the livelihood of families whose generations have been engaged in concocting exquisiteness for centuries over.

The charm of Purani Dilli will never, neither should it ever, want to mix with that of Nayi Dilli. This gap is unique and we must agree that it should remain, the way it has been - for all the times to come.

Students of the School of Hospitality Management, forever hungry to create never-before events, have charted out in their curriculum, a busy calendar of activities, out of which, they chose, for this season a Purani Dilli ki Raunaq. Such young,

bubbly students, once given the liberty to go wild on their imagination, always come up with exceptional ideas... was the comment of the Chef Sunil, the man behind "Foods Streets of Purani Dilli"

It was an enjoyable, yet a formal afternoon, Ibtidaa – for starters, were the tongue-teasers, known popularly, in the hospitality students' jargon, as "appetite arousers" as Gol Gappas, chaat, papri, aloo tikki – served by a young student Sparsh Kapoor – who challenged anybody

Sunil Thapa, playing Babu Ram, Parathe Wala next door, sporting his big belly, super confident about his handiwork, wipes his face (and mouth) with his Gamchha, and nullifies Aashna's assertion by claiming – "You perhaps do not know what the world swears by – these are my Aloo Parathas" – they are famous all over the globe, across the seven continents...What are you talking about...?

"How sweet are we...!!" Says Ekhagrah, churning out a perfect, rather a geometry-perfect design of a jalebi..." Ek baar khaega, baar-baar aayega" whosoever eats it once once, is bound to come again...Shyam Sweets, inspired by Lord Kirshna's butter-heavy desserts, instantly pulls a crowd hovering around to round up for a Suji Halwa.

"This was the first ever festival totally conceptualized and executed by our students. I am overwhelmed to say that it was a resounding success. This triumph encourages us to go even further and organize festivals about the different regional cuisines of India on a much bigger scale" says Chef Sunil "We did not take help from any external agency. Our students created everything with the available resources" continues to say the Chef at the success of the festival...

The winners were judged by a team from Marriott hotels and the students were awarded prizes and accolades...

RENOWNED BLOGGERS VISIT VATEL HOSPITALITY SCHOOL FOR AN EXCLUSIVE TASTE

Recognized for thinking out of the box and renowned highly for undertaking exceptional projects, the students of Vatel Hotel and Business School, Ansal University, backed always by the support of the dean, professors and the management, took a very unique step - that of marketing their HM Institute in a rather unconventional and a unique way.

“We have two beautiful fine-dine restaurants, three kitchens and a bakery with the most modern equipment, fully loaded, air conditioned classrooms, Front Office and Housekeeping labs, a well-stocked library, excellent recreational facilities and collaboration with France’s global hospitality school – all this in a superb location. It is high time people got to know what all we are proud of” say Sarthak Vats and Samrat Puri two bright Final Year students who spearheaded the exercise of conceptualization of this marketing-oriented event, of course with the guidance of their well experienced professors and chefs.

In keeping with the doctrine that says that the best way to win a man’s heart is through his appetite, the students planned to invite a dozen-odd local food bloggers on February 7, 2020, - the ones who write enthusiastically about their gastronomic experiences and are followed by a sizeable crowd. Universally recognized as ‘persuasive media influencers’, the thought behind getting together the renowned bloggers was to re-inforce the overwhelming popularity of the Continental – Mediterranean cuisine, which for this prestigious event, was entirely planned, prepared and executed by the students of Vatel School.

EPICURE, where the Vatel School organizes its events is a training restaurant, designed specially to demonstrate etiquette, ambience and the style usually found in the upscale, fine-dine restaurants of the world.

The menu started with exquisite specialities like Spinach with Ricotta Quiche and Chicken Vol-au-Vents, followed by Roasted Tomato, basil and ginger soup and a chicken-asparagus soup which, instead of being accompanied by the normal bread and butter, had mushroom and black garlic paste with toast. The main course comprised of Lamb Osso Bucco with Grilled Polenta and Roasted Broccoli and the traditionally famous Coq au Vin.

Young girls and boys dressed in their official Vatel uniforms, were eloquent and well versed in describing the dishes to the guests. "I was impressed by the style these people are looking after us with care, concern and smile" said one of the guests.

"Like it always happens, we get tremendous mileage and recognition from such events, especially from this one wherein we were in the company of personalities whose blogs the general public at large reads with a great deal of enthusiasm and follows them through...Said Dr. Garima Parkash, Dean, Vatel Hotel and Tourism Business School at Ansal University.

Webinar on World Water Day 2020 Celebration Invitation

We are thrilled to extend our heartfelt invitation to you for the upcoming celebration of World Water Day 2020. This auspicious event will take place on 20th March 2020 at Ansal University

As advocates for the conservation and sustainable management of water resources, we are honoured to host this gathering dedicated to raising awareness about the importance of water and the pressing challenges it faces globally.

Water is the essence of life, covering about 71% of the Earth's surface and constituting a major component of all living organisms. Its significance spans across various aspects, making it indispensable for human survival, environmental sustainability, and economic development.

Firstly, water is vital for human existence. It plays a crucial role in maintaining bodily functions, regulating temperature, transporting nutrients, and flushing out toxins. Access to clean drinking water is a fundamental human right, yet millions around the world lack this basic necessity, leading to health issues and even fatalities.

Furthermore, water is essential for agriculture and food production. Irrigation systems rely on water to cultivate crops, ensuring food security for growing populations. Additionally, water sustains ecosystems, providing habitats for various species and supporting biodiversity. Wetlands, rivers, and oceans are home to diverse flora and fauna, and their conservation is crucial for ecological balance.

Addressing these challenges requires collective action and innovative solutions. Conservation efforts, water recycling, and investment in infrastructure can help optimize water usage and minimize waste. Additionally, promoting water education and awareness fosters responsible stewardship among individuals and communities. Water is a precious and finite resource essential for life on Earth. Its sustainable management is paramount to ensure equitable access, environmental preservation, and socio-economic prosperity. By recognizing the importance of water and adopting responsible practices, we can safeguard this invaluable resource for future generations.
