Brief Description (min 250 to max 800 words)*

Today in the developed world, most blood donors are unpaid volunteers who donate blood for a community supply. In some countries, established supplies are limited and donors usually give blood when family or friends need a transfusion (directed donation). Many donors donate for several reasons, such as a form of charity, general awareness regarding the demand for blood, increased confidence in oneself, helping a personal friend or relative, and social pressure. Despite the many reasons that people donate, not enough potential donors actively donate. However, this is reversed during disasters when blood donations increase, often creating an excess supply that will have to be later discarded. In countries that allow paid donation some people are paid, and in some cases there are incentives other than money such as paid time off from work. People can also have blood drawn for their own future use (autologous donation). Donating is relatively safe, but some donors have bruising where the needle is inserted or may feel faint. School of Health Sciences, SHS (Department of MLT) of Sushant University organized an event on “Blood Donation Camp” in association with Rotary blood bank on 30.11.2022. Around 200 volunteers participated in this event. This camp was sponsored by HDFC bank. The camp was well equipped with all the necessary gear and it turned out to be very successful.
