-------------------	-----	-------------	------------------	--	---

Participated in a school level event as a part of F& B managing committee.

Participating as a member of the Food and Beverage (F&B) Management Committee in school-level events has been a rewarding and intellectually stimulating experience for advanced learners. This role is tailored for students who have a keen interest in hospitality, event planning, and leadership.

As a committee member, advanced learners are entrusted with significant responsibilities. They contribute to the overall success of events by meticulously planning and executing F&B-related aspects. This involves menu selection, food preparation, presentation, and ensuring a seamless dining experience for attendees.

Advanced learners benefit from this activity by developing crucial skills such as teamwork, time management, and problem-solving. Moreover, this experience fosters creativity, as they have the opportunity to innovate in menu design, food presentation and buffet set up's.

Advance Learners

Advance learners chosen on the basis of their internal marks were asked to demonstrate their advance cooking and chopping skills to juniors which they have learnt so far as they had done their first industrial training. They had knowledge about latest trends and cooking skills from the industry. This activity boosted the morale of these students and also boosted the motivation of their juniors who have just started their culinary journey.

Students went to Pragati Maidan in AAHAR 2023 to acquaint themselves with latest F&B trends

The students embarked on a journey to Pragati Maidan, eagerly anticipating the grand spectacle that awaited them at AAHAR 2023. This prestigious exhibition is renowned for its ability to showcase the latest and most innovative trends in the Food and Beverage (F&B) industry.

The students wandered through countless stalls, each one offering a unique gastronomic experience. They had the opportunity to interact with industry professionals, renowned chefs, and F&B enthusiasts, all eager to share their knowledge and expertise. From sustainable food practices and farm-to-table concepts to cutting-edge technology transforming the culinary landscape, the students were exposed to an array of progressive trends that were shaping the future of F&B.

Engaging in conversations with exhibitors, the students gained valuable insights into the art of food presentation, fusion cuisine, and the rise of plant-based alternatives. It was a truly immersive adventure that broadened their horizons and expanded their understanding of the dynamic world of food.

The visit to AAHAR 2023 at Pragati Maidan not only provided the students with a firsthand experience of the latest F&B trends but also ignited a passion within them to explore and experiment in their own culinary endeavors.
